

NEWS | CEO BRIEFING

C.H. Robinson buys RXO for $5.8B, betting AI can squeeze $300M in savings

Two top US freight brokers combine into a $25B+ logistics platform

By Manasee Kurlekar | October 6, 2026

The largest North American truck broker is getting bigger, and it says AI will pay for the deal.

The largest North American truck broker is getting bigger, and it says AI will pay for the deal.

C.H. Robinson agreed to buy RXO in a cash-and-stock deal valued at about $5.8 billion, creating a company with an enterprise value above $25 billion.

RXO holders get $17.25 in cash plus 0.0856 C.H. Robinson shares per share, an implied $30.25. That is a 29% premium to Friday's close.

C.H. Robinson plans to roll out its AI-driven operating model across RXO and targets $300 million in cost savings within two years.

Closing is expected in the first half of 2027.

Read online: <https://worldbusinesswatch.com/news/9/218/c-h-robinson-buys-rxo-for-5-8b-betting-ai-can-squeeze-300m-in-savings.html>

© 2026 World Business Watch. All rights reserved.