

NEWS | TECHNOLOGY

Qapture Investments Expands Digital Asset Platform With Flammарion and Hermetik Acquisitions

Transactions strengthen Qapture's regulated investment management footprint and add Hermetik's three-year on-chain yield track record, proprietary infrastructure and DeFi expertise.

By Ankit Kankar | September 13, 2026

Picture Courtesy | Public Domain

Qapture Investments, a Bermuda-based investment manager led by Frederick Pye, founder of 3iQ Corp, announced the completion of two strategic transactions: the acquisition of Flammarion Partners Ltd., a British Virgin Islands Approved Manager, now renamed Qapture Investments (BVI) Ltd.; and the integration of Hermetik Trading Technologies Inc.'s on-chain yield strategies and operational infrastructure, including the appointment of Founder Brendan MacNeil as Head of DeFi.

Together, the acquisitions position Qapture to be a regulated investment manager and a leading on-chain strategy provider, expanding both its regulatory footprint and product capabilities.

Hermetik and Brendan MacNeil

Qapture recently purchased the on-chain yield strategies and operational infrastructure of Hermetik Trading Technologies Inc., a Canadian DeFi technology company, and appointed its founder, Brendan MacNeil, as Head of DeFi.

Mr. MacNeil brings a decade of experience working in the digital asset sector. He founded and operated Hermetik Trading Technologies Inc. as a Decentralized Finance (DeFi) technology company for three years with backing from East Valley Ventures, an angel investor group based in Atlantic Canada. His strategies are designed for investors seeking consistent returns, in contrast to the frequent volatility and drawdowns often experienced throughout the sector.

The acquisition adds a three-year track record in on-chain yield strategies, complementing Qapture's existing eight-year track record in directional digital asset strategies. Brendan's addition to the team strengthens Qapture's position as a data-driven active manager building the new standard of investing for a digital future.

"Brendan's track record of designing reliable on-chain strategies aligns perfectly with our vision of offering next-generation products as on-chain asset managers," said Daniel Pye, President and COO at Qapture. "Together, Qapture is now equipped to service clients across the full spectrum of risk tolerance with strategies flexible to help achieve our client's goals."

As Head of DeFi, MacNeil will join Qapture's Research and Investment Committees, leading the development of all on-chain strategies and product initiatives. The integration brings Hermetik's proprietary systems and operational infrastructure into Qapture's platform, enhancing the firm's capabilities in yield optimization, risk management, and automated execution.

"Digital assets are going through a generational inflection point - evolving from speculation to sophisticated asset management strategies. Qapture brings a depth of expertise and success in bridging these two worlds. Combined with Hermetik's on-chain yield strategies, there is a real opportunity here to capture the institutional transition from traditional to on-chain markets," said Brendan MacNeil, Head of DeFi at Qapture.

Read online: <https://worldbusinesswatch.com/news/13/61/qapture-investments-expands-digital-asset-platform-with-flammarion-and-hermetik-acquisitions.html>

© 2026 World Business Watch. All rights reserved.